Alfred E. Smith Memorial Chapel
Alfred E. Smith Memorial Chapel, located on Vermont Route 9 in Colchester, Vermont, is a historic church complex. Built in 1883 to a design by New York City architects Brock & Rand, it was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1989 for its architecture. Description and history The complex consists of four elements, all separately listed on the National Register of Historic Places: the church itself (listed in 1989) the Parish Hall (built in 1930), the Rectory (built in 1930), and the First Presbyterian Church (built in 1904). The Rectory and First Presbyterian Church form a three-sided square around the Parish Hall. The Parish Hall is the only building to survive in the town, and it retains much of its Romanesque Revival styling. The building is in the Romanesque style, with a gabled roof, stone masonry walls, and an entry portal with lancet windows. The Parish Hall is an L-shaped brick structure, with a large central tower containing seven round-arch windows. Its address, Number 28, is consistent with its status as a local town meeting house. The Rectory and First Presbyterian Church are of similar design. 79a2804d6b
