Регистрация с ботов.Q: How to get OutputStream from OutputStream from void in InputStream I am trying to create a custom ImageView with android that allows us to draw. For that reason I try to have a custom path that you can draw with it. I found the path that I want and want to save it. This is my code: OutputStream outputStream = new FileOutputStream(path) byte[] buff = new byte[1024]; while ((read = inputStream.read(buff) > 0)) outputStream.write(buff, 0, read); outputStream.flush(); outputStream.close(); inputStream.close(); But if I want to have an OutputStream I need to write some code. How can I just create a OutputStream without a method? like this: OutputStream outputStream = new FileOutputStream(path); ??? outputStream.write(buff, 0, read); outputStream.flush(); outputStream.close(); inputStream.close(); A: You can make a factory class like this, which you can call with FileOutputStream and that does the trick.
public class FileStreamCreator { public static OutputStream createFileStream(final File file) { FileOutputStream fos = new FileOutputStream(file); return fos; } } You can call it like this File file = new File("c:/temp"); OutputStream outputStream = FileStreamCreator.createFileStream(file); // do something with outputStream EDIT: I'll explain this in a little more detail. In Java, every variable must have a type. So, when you write FileOutputStream fos = new FileOutputStream(file), this means that you are creating a variable named fos, which is declared as an OutputStream, and the right-hand side of the assignment is also
